

September 26, 2008

JT Foreman
ComDoc Inc.

Production Color Printing 'in-house' reference

To whom it may concern,

For several years CORSA Performance created individual sell sheets for our product in house, but would then have large quantities printed by local printing companies. After meeting with ComDoc and analyzing our situation, we opted to install high volume color printing capabilities in house.

CORSA Performance has benefited in many ways by printing our 'sell sheets' in-house. Here are just a few of the advantages;

- Cost Savings;
 1. We can print in house with same quality for lower cost
 2. We print smaller quantities, minimizing exposure when a sell sheet needs updated.
 3. Better use of employee's time; more efficient to print on demand than coordinating new orders and checking inventory at external print source.
- Improved marketing - We offer customized sell sheets for our customers to give to their customers, something that would not be cost effective when outsourced.
- Space savings (kind of) although the printer takes up more space than our previous unit, we've emptied an entire closet where bulk copies of sell sheets were stored; now we keep much lower quantities or print on demand.
- No external lead time to plan around, we can respond to needs instantly.
- Ability to adjust color if needed, before printing larger volumes.

The main motivation for this decision was cost; over the last three years it has proven to be a successful profitable transition.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Tom Browning". The signature is written in a cursive, slightly slanted style.

Tom Browning
Vice President